National Congress of the Dominican Republic

Santo Domingo, National District
10 March 2008

The Right Honorable
Nancy Pelosi
Speaker of the House of Representatives
UNITED STATES

Honorable Madame Speaker:

We have the honor to extend to you a cordial invitation for a delegation from the Congress of the United States to participate in the XXXth Annual Forum of the Parliamentarians for Global Action entitled Reinforcing democratic institutions, accountability, and the rule of law, as well as the Vth Session of the Consultative Assembly of Parliamentarians for the International Criminal Court, which we will host in Santo Domingo on the 30th and 31st of October of 2008.

PGA is a global organization that encompasses more than 1,300 legislators from 118 parliaments, whose objective is promoting peace, democracy, justice, human rights, and sustainable development. The PGA Forum is the point of annual meeting of legislators who wish to address problems of international concern which single countries by themselves cannot resolve. This year the Annual Forum will be organized together with the Vth Session of the Consultative Assembly of Parliamentarians for the International Criminal Court

(CAP-CPI), the only global forum that brings together legislators from around the world who are concerned with international justice.

Since 1989, the members of PGA have promoted the establishing and operating of an independent and universal criminal Court which prevents and punishes the gravest crimes afflicting the conscience of humanity: the crime of genocide, crimes against humanity, and war crimes. Along this path, PGA has observed the powerful effect of international justice on the strengthening of democratic institutions and accountability. With the objective of increasing this potential and identifying the mechanisms through which legislators can favor the various dimensions of national life based on the principle of equality for all before the law and the struggle against impunity, this event will bring together legislators from around the world, as well as representatives of international agencies, governments, civil society and academia, in order to contribute to this important discussion. The discussions of the Annual Forum and CAP-CPI will be conducted in Spanish, English, French, and Arabic, and will include panels addressing the role of international cooperation and parliamentary action in the building of the state, including the promotion of democratic institutions; in the struggle against impunity; in the promotion of the universality and effectiveness of the International Criminal Court; as well as the preventive impact of criminal justice and its contribution to peace, stability, and democracy.

The Congress of the Dominican Republic is a proud partner of this initiative, and hopes to be honored with the participation of a delegation from the Congress of your country in this conference, which is expected to be a step towards parliamentary mobilization that will provide solutions to the complex and multi-dimensional challenges facing democracy, justice and accountability under the Rule of Law. This conference will seek for participants to contribute to an Action Plan that can be transformed into concrete actions to be carried out on the national level when the participants return to their respective congresses.

I beg you to notify the Executive Coordinator of the Forum, Mrs. Ana Cecilia Helena in Santo Domingo foropga.sd(at)gmail.com and fax (809) 532-3016, and Mr. Brian Kett (PGA in New York) brian.kett(at)pgaction.org before September 30, 2008, of the confirmation of participation by an ideally multi-party delegation from the United States to the XXXth Annual PGA Forum and the Vth Consultative Assembly of Parliamentarians for CPI and the Rule of Law.

We remain

Yours very truly,

Reinaldo Pared Perez
President of the Senate of the Republic

Julio Cesar Valentin
President of the Chamber of Deputies
